Join The Fort Ross Interpretive Association

To help bring alive a unique part of California history.
The rich history of Fort Ross begins with the Kashaya Pomo, the Native Californians who have inhabited this area for centuries ...
From 1812 to 1841 Settlement Ross, the Russian-American Company's southernmost colony, was inhabited by Russians, Native Alaskans and Creoles ...
After 1841 the pioneering American ranching and logging years began on the rugged Sonoma Coast.

Fort Ross Interpretive Association (FRIA) was formed to promote the educational and interpretive activities of Fort Ross State Historic Park. We are dedicated to the protection and interpretation of the cultural and natural history of Fort Ross and Salt Point. Membership dues and proceeds from the Museum Bookstore assist the following:

- Publishing and distributing of literature to interpret the cultural and natural history of Fort Ross and Salt Point
- Operating the Museum Bookstore and Staffing the Fort Ross Visitor Center
- Maintaining and acquiring of materials for the Fort Ross Research and Lending Library
- Sponsoring exhibits and acquiring display materials and collections
- Organizing seminars, classes and cultural presentations for the park staff, volunteers and public
- Supporting historic, ethnographic and archaeological studies
- Supporting surveys, restoration and furnishing plans of historic buildings
- Maintaining the old Russian orchard and the Call ranch house gardens
- Supporting special events at Fort Ross, including Cultural Heritage Day which is always the last Saturday of July

Your membership dues entitle you to:

- Semi-monthly newsletter filled with articles by local and international historians and experts, plus up-to-date information on upcoming events and classes
- 10% discount at the Museum Bookstore (price list available by request)
- Membership voting privileges
